

Every day Congress does nothing...

My gun safety activism started the day after the Newtown massacre, when 26 people, including 20 children were shot and killed senselessly. I had to put my then 6 year old daughter on the school bus the next day and it was one of the most difficult days of my life. My 'I am NOT a Target' was born on that day and is still a work in progress. To date, I have held over 8 Art for Change events all around Alaska, photographed over 150 activists, partnered with For Freedoms 2018's 50 State Initiative, and sent five 3 ft x 4 ft. posters to AK Congressional delegates and others.

I have partnered with the Brady Foundation, Moms Demand Action, the Fairbanks Northstar Borough School district and the Interior Alaskan Marksmanship Committee to educate, encourage, and promote gun safety education and legislation in a state where over 61% of the population own firearms. Because of this project and my partnership with For Freedoms, the school district in Fairbanks, AK has adopted, financed, and distributed ASKING SAVES KIDS cards (above) to 12,000 families in 2019, and will continue to pass these cards out to every student in the school district yearly. Providing a model for the state, many gun safety groups now look to Fairbanks as an example of coming together for the safety of our children and community. It is my hope that the state of Alaska will adopt a gun safety education program statewide for all students and families. I am forever grateful to the brave Alaskan who posed for change for this project, thank you.

AWKWARD CONVERSATIONS COME WITH BEING A PARENT.

BUT ONE COULD SAVE YOUR CHILD'S LIFE.

ASK:
Is there an unlocked gun where my child plays?

ASK this question before you send your child to someone's home.

ALASKA FACTS:
61% of adults have a household firearm
12,380 children live with unlocked, loaded firearms
7.31 crude youth firearm mortality rate per 100,000
